

Participant Rules (PR) (Issued 1th Nov 2019)

In order to register for the Taubertal 100, every participant must accept the race rules and regulations.

Any well trained and healthy endurance runner may participate in the Taubertal 100 at distances of 50 km, 71 km and 100 km providing they can submit proof of their qualification. For these distances, qualification constitutes a finish in any time at any ultramarathon over any distance, or a sub-5-hour finish in a marathon within the 12 months prior to registration.

Qualification for the 100-mile race is a sub-13-hour 100 km, a sub-26-hour 100-mile or a longer distance in the equivalent time, for example covering 150 km in a 24-hour race. An allowance of 6 minutes per 100m of ascent will be calculated for hilly races. A sub-13-hour long-distance triathlon (Ironman) will also be accepted. The qualifying race must take place within the 12 months prior to registration.

The race director may exclude any participant during the registration process without giving any reason. The race director may exclude any participant after registration but must give a reason and a refund of any monies paid.

Male and female runners will be ranked by distance within age-groups. Every finisher receives a certificate and finisher's medal. The first three male and female runners at each distance receive a trophy.

The registration fees are available on www.taubertal100.com

Deadline for registration is the day before the race.

Registration is complete after sending the registration form and after receiving confirmation from the race organisation. Payment of the race fees, including optional extras, must be made within 14 days from receipt of the confirmation. Deferment is possible up to 15 days before the race. Payment will be transferred to the following year's race. Refunds will not be issued, and entry will not be transferred, if the entry is cancelled within 14 days of the event.

If the race must be cancelled due to force majeure, security reasons or by official order of the government, the organiser is not obliged to offer refunds to participants in the Taubertal 100.

The participant is willing to undergo controls and regulations as directed by the race organisation. Breaking of rules and exceeding time limits will result in disqualification. The time limits are specified on the website and in the race briefing. The race organisation may disqualify runners during the race for reasons such as safety concerns over the participant's state of health, rule violations or unsportsmanlike behaviour.

The race route will occasionally cross busy roads. The participant agrees to conform to the highway code at all times, as well as the rules of the race itself. During the race, no external help is permitted. Runners or bikes are allowed to accompany participants after the checkpoint in Creglingen (km 18) but must maintain a distance of at least 2 metres from the runner.

Participants who registered for 100-miles, 100 km or 71 km but finish at a lesser distance (100, 71 or 50 km), will receive a certificate for the distance they actually completed.

Runners who pass a finish line (50 km, 71 km, 100 km) and continue, but drop out before the next finish line, will be disqualified. Runners who exceed the cut-off time at the final finish line will not be listed in the race results.

Finally, I hereby confirm that I have read the Participant Rules and fully agree to the content.
